

ROSÉ OF SANGIOVESE

columbia valley | vintage 2024

QUALITY • CONSISTENCY • CHARACTER | 40 YEARS IN WASHINGTON WINE | FAMILY-OWNED AND OPERATED

ROSÉ AT BARNARD GRIFFIN —

We're very serious about this festive and flavorful dry wine. Quality Rosé starts with grapes grown specifically for this purpose. Our Rosé is a deliberate result of careful winemaking, not an incidental byproduct of red production. Our Rosé is conceived in the vineyard at pruning and matured to be crisp, lean and fruity - it is the most winningest wine at the San Francisco Chronicle Wine Competition, ever.

VINTAGE 2024 —

The 2024 vintage in Washington state was marked by a near-perfect growing season that allowed grapes to ripen evenly across the Columbia Valley. The season's weather set the stage for wines with bright acidity, expressive fruit, and excellent aging potential.

Spring rains produced vines with strong canopies and healthy fruit set. Acid development and aromatics both benefitted from cool nights through the summer, as temperatures rose steadily post spring, not wavering until September. There was a moment of prolonged heat in mid-summer, but eventually the sun set into more reasonable temperatures and the vines adjusted accordingly.

Harvest began later than "usual" and temperatures were moderate throughout the harvest window allowing some varietals, particularly reds, to see an extended hang-time on the vine, which allowed for more concentrated flavors and deeper color.
