

ALBARIÑO

columbia valley | vintage 2025

QUALITY • CONSISTENCY • CHARACTER | 40 YEARS IN WASHINGTON WINE | FAMILY-OWNED AND OPERATED

ALBARIÑO AT BARNARD GRIFFIN —

This wine has marvelous aromatics, with crisp acidity and a surprisingly rich finish. We're convinced it's a natural for Washington State - and it has become a flagship wine for our Reserve White program.

VINTAGE 2025 —

A steady spring led into warm summer days and the cool evenings that we rely on to preserve natural acidity, aromatic intensity, freshness and ageability. Moderate temperatures through much of harvest allowed fruit to arrive at the winery in outstanding condition. The resulting wines show vibrant varietal character, refined tannin structure, concentrated fruit expression, and impressive natural balance.

Our regions climate continues to make sustainable winegrowing a natural extension of the area itself. Our dry shrub-step environment significantly reduces disease pressure, limiting the need for many vineyard inputs. Consistent sunshine, low annual rainfall, and dramatic day-to-night temperature swings create ideal conditions for producing wines with intensity, freshness, and site expression.

The 2025 vintage reflects both the resilience of Washington growers and the remarkable consistency of the region. These wines showcase purity, energy, and a sense of place that continue to make Washington State one of the most exciting and dependable wine regions in the world.

TASTING NOTES —

Granny smith apple and bright pear, with layers of refreshing lime zest and stone fruit.

Moments of tartness followed by a juicy and well-constructed core.

Well in line with the albariños we've come to know and love out of the Yakima Valley.
